
Call for Research Interns

About Esya: The Esya Centre (Esya) is a niche innovation and technology policy think-tank based in New Delhi, focussing on the triad of economics-law-technology, with ‘people’ at the centre of its values. We are looking for motivated people who share the same ethos and are willing to contribute to our work.

Expected Work: Interns will be expected to contribute towards Esya’s ongoing research pillars. This spans discursive opportunities for desk research and writing on pertinent issues/debates which intersect across future technology ecosystems.

Preferred Profile: Candidates should have:

1. an excellent ability to marry comprehensive research with analysis
2. an ability to take ownership of their deliverables
3. a demonstrable interest in debates relating to the governance, policy design and regulation of new markets
4. an ability to study issues which have interdisciplinary dimensions

Eligibility:

1. Applicants must be in the advanced stages of relevant programmes in disciplines like law, economics, international relations/affairs, sociology, political science, public policy/administration, etc. If your discipline is not mentioned, we will consider your application if you can build a case for how your background can add value to our Centre’s work.

Illustration of “advanced stages”: A student must have completed their 6th semester if they are enrolled in a five-year B.A. LLB (Hons.) programme.

2. Applicants must demonstrate academic interest and prior experience/credentials working on matters relating to the governance of future tech markets. Some relevant domains include competition, intellectual property, data governance, online privacy, information security and standardisation.
3. Prior publications in a relevant domain help us evaluate compatibility.
4. Applicants must have reliable internet connectivity and related facilities to work remotely.
5. Applicants must apply for a minimum period of 1 month.

Application Requirements:

Interested candidates are requested to submit the following documents.

1. A resume/CV of not more than two pages.
2. A cover letter of not more than one page discussing the applicant’s suitability for the role.

Application Details: There is no deadline for internship application as the program runs throughout the year. Interested applicants can apply at any point. Applications should be sent via email to contact@esyacentre.org. The subject line for the application mail should read “Application for Research Internship”. Since we are a small team we do not have the capacity to acknowledge all applications. Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted for interviews.

Remuneration: A monthly competitive stipend will be provided to selected interns.
